Innovative Circuit Technology Launches New Website and Productivity Tools

ICT is pleased to announce it has launched its new website (www.ict-power.com) to improve the online experience for its customers, and at the same time has built and added some innovative tools that ICT authorized resellers will find invaluable.

ICT has included a new industry CROSS REFERENCE GUIDE that allows a customer or partner to type in a complete or partial product number from a number of different suppliers, and the guide will provide a direct matching ICT model number, or in some cases a choice of product alternatives that will allow customers to determine which ICT product would best suit their needs.

ICT has also updated its BASE STATION MATRIX, which provides a quick reference to match ICT radio covers, power supplies, and complete base stations to all major industry standard radios.

Finally, the PRODUCT SELECTION WIZARD will guide customers through a step by step exercise to determine the right product for their particular need.

Check out the new ICT website to see how we can help make your job a little easier.
